• Legal framework in Turkey

• The role of Turkish Competition Authority (TCA):
  – First dimension: Targeting collusion
  – Second dimension: Competition advocacy

• Some examples from the case-law
Legal Framework

• Main prohibitions in the Competition Act
  – Anti-competitive agreements, concerted practices and decisions (Art. 4)
    • Price fixing, market sharing, bid rigging etc.
  – Abuse of dominant position (Art. 6)
  – Mergers and acquisitions creating or strengthening dominance and restricting competition significantly (Art. 7)

• Prohibition in the Criminal Code
  – Bid rigging also constitutes a crime and subject to criminal prosecution
General Overview

• Public procurement markets constitutes an important share of national economies:
  • Turkey: 11% of the GDP
  • OECD: 12% of the GDP
  • EU : 16% of the GDP

• Efficient public procurement is important for saving public funds
  – Not an issue limited to developing world
  – A recent trend among EU member states and Turkey.

• Efficiency of the public procurement markets is closely related to the establishment and protection of competition
Targeting Collusion

• The TCA conducts administrative investigation and imposes administrative fines up to %10 percent of undertaking’s annual turnover

• Successfully completed cases in markets such as:
  – Chemotherapy medicine preparation
  – Medical gases
  – Hospital consumables
  – Construction works
  – Medical equipment
  – Pharmaceuticals

• The TCA does not only focus on revealing the collusive practices but also considers the problems involved in the tender process
  – In medical gases case, the TCA gave a written opinion to the public authorities about the measures that could be taken in order to make the tender process more competitive
Targeting Collusion

• Public prosecutors have wider powers in evidence gathering (e.g. wiretapping)

• In some cases evidence gathered by the public prosecutor have been used in TCA investigation (Hospital consumables case)

• The TCA accessed good quality of evidence in this case and easily proved the collusive behavior
Competition Advocacy

• The TCA also engages in activities to raise awareness of competitive tender process as part of its role to advocate competition

• The TCA provides training for public institutions and agencies on how to prevent and detect bid rigging

• Main focus of the TCA when providing feedback to the public agencies:
  – Effective tender design
  – Unnecessary qualification requirements from the applicants

• The Public Procurement Agency (PPA) gets TCA’s opinion before legislative changes
Competition Advocacy

• The TCA and Public Procurement Agency (PPA) concluded a co-operation protocol on 14.10.2009 aiming to increase co-operation between two agencies

• Providing competition authorities with access to data on tenders plays an important role in detecting collusive bidding

• In 2012 the protocol have been reviewed and basis for information sharing between the agencies on ongoing cases have been established

• E-procurement system can be used to acquire information on the bidders in a tender under investigation
