United Nations Conference on the Least-Developed Countries

(Paris, 1-14 September 1981)

Note by the Executive Secretary

82-0033
1. Further to UNCTAD resolution 122(V), outlining the Substantial New Programme of Action (SNPA) for the 1980s in favour of the Least Developed Countries, the General Assembly, in its resolution 34/203, decided to convene the United Nations Conference on the Least Developed Countries (UNCLDC) in 1981 in order to finalize, adopt and support the programme. The Conference was held in Paris from 1 to 14 September 1981.

2. In preparation for the Conference, the ECWA secretariat assisted, through its focal point for LDCs, the two least developed member States in the preparation of their country presentations to the review meetings with their aid partners and participated in the various meetings of the Conference preparatory committee held in Geneva; the review meeting of the least developed countries of Asia and the Pacific held in Vienna, 30 March to 10 April 1981; and the meeting of the ministers of member States of ESCAP and ECWA held in Bangkok from 10 to 11 August 1981, preceded by a meeting of senior officials from 7 to 8 August 1981. The meetings in Bangkok were co-sponsored by the ESCAP and ECWA secretariats.

3. The Conference was inaugurated by the President of France, who stressed the relationship between assistance to developing countries and the efforts of the developed countries to overcome their current economic crisis, as well as the international solidarity that was reflected in the efforts of the industrialized countries to review the process of the North-South dialogue.

4. The Conference was opened by the Secretary-General of the United Nations, Mr. Kurt Waldheim, who stressed the urgency of the questions facing the Conference and the need to agree on concrete measures to achieve its objectives. He emphasized that the Programme of Action to be decided by the Conference would be a major step towards the economic transformation of the least developed countries that could help them break out of the vicious trap of poverty and deprivation.

5. In line with the request of the Ministers of the ECWA and ESCAP member States' meeting in Bangkok, on 10-11 August 1981, His Majesty the King of Nepal addressed the Conference on behalf of the Least Developed Countries of the two regions. In addition to the two Yemens, the Conference was also addressed by such other members of ECWA as Egypt, Iraq, Kuwait, the Palestine Liberation Organization and Saudi Arabia.

6. The deliberations of the Conference were guided by a draft resolution embodying the Substantial New Programme of Action (SNPA) for the 1980s for the least developed countries and which was presented by Peru on behalf of States members of the group of 77. This draft resolution comprised the following three chapters: 1. General Situation and National Measures; 2. International Support Measures; and 3. Arrangements for Implementation, Follow-up and Monitoring. The two Conference committees in which the ECWA secretariat participated, prepared for consideration of the Conference, the final draft of the SNPA which was adopted by the Conference on 14 September 1981.

Conference recommendations

7. The Conference recommended to the General Assembly that it decide that the UNCTAD Intergovernmental Group on the Least Developed Countries should be involved in carrying out the mid-term review and consider the possibility of holding a global review at the end of the decade which might take the form of a United Nations Conference on the Least Developed Countries. The Conference further recommended that the United Nations Director-General for Development and International Economic Co-operation, in close collaboration with the Secretary General of UNCTAD, the Executive Secretaries of the regional commissions, and the lead agencies for the aid groups, should ensure, at the secretariat level, the full mobilization of the system for the purpose of the implementation and follow-up of the SNPA. The system of focal points in each United Nations agency, used in the preparations for the Conference, should be kept active also for the implementation tasks over the decade. The General Assembly in resolution 36/194 adopted the SNPA.

For this, the regional commissions are expected to give full attention, in their economic analysis and monitoring, to the problems, needs and achievements of the least developed countries and produce relevant statistics. Each regional commission should prepare periodic reports on the activities falling within its competence as inputs to the global review process.
