The Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia,

Guided by the United Nations Millennium Declaration, which was adopted by Heads of State and Government by General Assembly resolution 55/2 of 2000,

Recognizing the importance of meeting the major challenge currently facing the region, namely, making globalization a positive force that promotes the interests of the peoples of the region by creating a shared future based on the highest and most equitable humanitarian principles,

Noting that the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) in the region is a national responsibility, both with respect to identifying national development goals and targets and to adopting the general policies necessary to ensure that those goals and targets are achieved by 2015,

Stressing the need for the developed countries to honour their commitments towards developing countries, which represent the second part of the development partnership equation, and further affirming the relationship between the liberalization of international trade, opportunities for developing countries to gain access to global markets, and MDGs, while emphasizing the importance of coordination between developing countries,

Affirming the importance of intensifying cooperation between the countries of the region in order to realize MDGs by 2015,

Commending the efforts exerted by the secretariat in that field, and the report on the progress made towards realizing MDGs in the ESCWA region,

1. Affirms the importance of increasing economic growth and with a view to realizing MDGs, linking that growth to the formulation of strategies for the eradication of poverty and unemployment and the achievement of social integration, including by adopting the general policies necessary in respect of labour, social security, the improvement of living conditions, particularly for vulnerable persons, the eradication of corruption and the strengthening of accountability;

2. Urges member countries to coordinate at the regional level and work together in order to formulate coordinated and unified Arab positions in advance of the meeting that will be held in New York in September 2005, five years after the United Nations Millennium Declaration, and to update MDG monitoring and follow-up systems;

Annex

JUSTIFICATIONS FOR THE SELECTION OF THE ROUTES TO BE GIVEN PRIORITY IN IMPLEMENTATION OF THE AGREEMENT ON INTERNATIONAL ROADS IN THE ARAB MASHREQ

Within the framework of the plan of action for the implementation of the Agreement on International Roads in the Arab Mashreq,1 the following five steps were specified:

1. Public information issues.
2. International road signs.
3. Identification of routes and their characteristics.
4. Route signs and signals.
5. Technical specifications of routes.

Moreover, in order to select the routes to be given priority until such time as the technical specifications set forth in the Agreement can be applied to all routes, the following standards were adopted:

1. An international road should pass through the greatest number of member countries, with special consideration being given to those countries that have ratified or signed the Agreement.

2. An international road should provide a linkage with other regions. Specifically, the beginning or end of a route should be outside the ESCWA region.

3. No parts of an international road should be in need of major works to complete or upgrade it that would involve a great deal of time or effort.

4. Work should already have begun on installing the international road signs, raising standards and changing signals to comply with Agreement requirements.

5. One international road should be oriented from north to south and the other from east to west.

The following two routes met the above-mentioned requirements:

(a) The north-south route:

M45: Syrian Arab Republic - Jordan - Saudi Arabia - Yemen (3,713 kilometres)
Bab Al Hawa (Syrian Arab Republic - Turkey) - Aleppo - Homs - Damascus - Nasib (Syrian Arab Republic/Jordan) - Jaber (Jordan/Syrian Arab Republic) - Amman - Ma’an - Al Mudawara (Jordan/Saudi Arabia) - Halat Ammar (Saudi Arabia/Jordan) - Tabuk - Qalibah - Medina - Mecca - Abha-Elb (Saudi Arabia/Yemen) - Baqim (Yemen/Saudi Arabia) - Sana’a - Ta’izz.

(b) The east-west route:

265 (XXIII). Regional Cooperation in the Field of Road Traffic Safety

The Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia,

Recalling United Nations General Assembly resolution 58/9 dated 19 November 2003 concerning the global road safety crisis,
Recognizing that the lack of safety on the roads is responsible for a huge number of dead and injured persons at the global level, and that this problem is ever-increasing in the developing countries, bringing social consequences and direct economic costs,

Affirming the importance of the endeavours exerted by the relevant United Nations agencies, particularly at the regional level, with a view to improving road safety,

Recognizing the importance of the agreement concluded between the United Nations regional commissions and the World Health Organization at a meeting held in March 2005, respecting the five priorities for action in the field of road safety, namely, safety belts; helmets for motor cyclists; reduced speed; not driving while under the influence of alcohol; and good road infrastructure,

Believing that it is important to carry out technical studies on road traffic safety issues, in the light of which priorities can be established for work in that field in the ESCWA region, which may differ from the priorities set forth above,

Welcoming the alacrity with which the Executive Secretary of ESCWA responded to requests for road traffic safety in member countries to be improved, by adding new activities to the Commission’s programme of work for the 2004-2005 biennium and proposing related activities in the programme of work for the 2006-2007 biennium,

1. Calls upon member countries to link the issue of road safety to their development programmes, with a view to increasing awareness of traffic safety measures through the audio-visual and written media, educational curriculums, especially for children and youth, cooperation with relevant regional and international institutions and allocating the budgets necessary to promote the needs of road traffic safety;

2. Also calls upon member countries to participate in the activities that ESCWA will undertake, including the preparation of studies, regional workshops on good traffic safety practices and preparations for the international traffic week that is scheduled for 2007;

3. Expresses its appreciation to the ESCWA secretariat for the speed of its response to the need to improve road safety in member countries;

4. Hopes that member countries will provide the material and moral support to the ESCWA secretariat that will enable it to implement activities in support of national efforts to achieve components of road traffic safety;

5. Adjudges member countries to participate effectively in any General Assembly discussions on this issue that may be held in September 2005;

6. Requests the Executive Secretary to submit a report on the implementation of this resolution to the Commission at its twenty-fourth session.

266 (XXIII). Adoption of the Draft Programme of Work for the 2006-2007 Biennium

The Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia,

Recalling the draft programme budget for the 2006-2007 biennium,
Bearing in mind that the draft programme budget is liable to be amended when discussed by the relevant committees and the United Nations General Assembly,

1. Adopts the draft programme budget for the 2006-2007 biennium;

2. Requests the Executive Secretary to distribute the programme budget to member countries after it has been adopted by the General Assembly;

Cognizant of the progress made in 2004 in implementing the programme of work for the 2004-2005 biennium,

Cognizant also of the amendments made to that programme of work,

Expressing satisfaction with the progress made,

Satisfied that the arrangements made concerning the amendments to the programme of work maintained its flexibility,

1. Adopts the amendments made to the programme of work for the 2004-2005 biennium;

2. Requests the Executive Secretary to follow up implementation of the programme of work and, if necessary, include activities to address any changes that may take place in the ESCWA region;

3. Requests the Executive Secretary to include information on any further amendments that may be made to the programme of work in the report on progress made in implementing the programme of work for the 2004-2005 biennium that will be distributed to member countries.

268 (XXIII). Adoption of the Final Reports of the Subsidiary Bodies of the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia

The Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia,

Affirming the importance of the role played by its subsidiary bodies in formulating, coordinating and following-up work in their respective specializations, in order to promote the best interests of member countries,
Recognizing that implementation of the recommendations made by those bodies enables ESCWA to undertake its duties in the special areas that fall within the remit of its subsidiary bodies,

Having considered the recommendations contained in the following reports: the report of the Committee on Women on its first session (E/ESCWA/WOM/2003/IG.1/9); the report of the Committee on Transport on its fifth session (E/ESCWA/GRID/2004/IG.1/7); the report of the Committee on Women on its second session (E/ESCWA/WOM/2004/IG.1/6); the report of the Statistical Committee on its sixth session (E/ESCWA/SCU/2004/IG.1/6); the report of the Committee on Energy on its fifth session E/ESCWA/SDPD/2004/IG.1/7); the report of the Committee on Water Resources on its sixth session (E/ESCWA/SDPD/2004/IG.2/6); the report of the Technical Committee on the Liberalization of Foreign Trade and Economic Globalization in the Countries of the ESCWA Region on its fourth session (E/ESCWA/GRID/2005/IG.2/5); the report of the Committee on Transport on its sixth session (E/ESCWA/GRID/2005/IG.1/5); and the report of the Committee on Social Development on its fifth session (E/ESCWA/SDD/2004/IG.1/12),

1. Adopts the recommendations contained in those reports, unless the Commission decides anything to the contrary in the course of this session, and the recommendations relating to the convening of subcommittee meetings in the 2006-2007 biennium;

2. Calls upon member countries to cooperate with ESCWA in taking and activating measures to ensure that those recommendations are implemented.

III. ISSUES FOR CONSIDERATION AND DISCUSSION

A. REQUESTS BY STATES MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND/OR ITS SPECIALIZED AGENCIES THAT ARE NOT MEMBERS OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COMMISSION FOR WESTERN ASIA (ESCWA) TO PARTICIPATE AS OBSERVERS IN THE TWENTY-THIRD SESSION OF THE COMMISSION

(Agenda item 5)

5. Five States Members of the United Nations that are not members of ESCWA requested to participate as observers in the work of the twenty-third session, namely, China, Morocco, Russian Federation, Sudan and Tunisia. The Commission agreed to invite these States to participate as observers in the work of the session. Furthermore, it consented to grant observer status to Sudan at all meetings held by ESCWA.

B. PRIORITY ISSUES IN THE WESTERN ASIA REGION

(Agenda item 6)

6. The Commission considered this agenda item as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/4. This item comprised three sub-items, which are reviewed below:

1. Peace and security and their impact on economic and social development

7. A round-table discussion was held under this agenda item to discuss peace and security and their impact on economic and social development. The round table, in which Messrs. Mahmoud Abdel Fadil, Ma’n Bashour and Nabil Sukkar participated, was chaired by Taleb Rifai, Regional Director of the International Labour Organization.

8. The Executive Secretary opened the discussion by presenting the Secretary-General’s report, entitled “In Larger Freedom: towards development, security and human rights for all”, which will be considered by the General Assembly at its next session in September 2005. The Secretary-General’s report defines a number of priorities in the areas of development, security and human rights; and addresses the issue of international organizations, particularly the United Nations, and the role they are expected to play in addressing these priorities. The report is based on the belief that there can be no security without development and no development without security, and that neither of the two can be achieved without respect for human rights and the rule of law. The Executive Secretary explained that the reform of the United Nations is aimed firmly at establishing its principles through the commitment of States Members to its charter, and emphasized the need to implement the declaration of human rights and to enable the Economic and Social Council to carry out its duties effectively.

9. The Executive Secretary stressed that the purpose of holding such a round-table discussion was to facilitate public debate on this issue in ESCWA member countries and to prepare for the active participation of ESCWA member countries in the General Assembly debate on the issue so as to reflect the specific situation in the region.

10. The above-mentioned participants raised the following threats and challenges in their discussion:

(a) Hard and soft threats facing the region, particularly military occupation; border disputes; conflicts over natural resources of strategic value, including oil and water; civil wars; and unemployment, especially among the educated youth;

(b) The challenges facing the region, particularly weak infrastructure, absence of smooth transition of power, lack of prospects for peaceful democratic change, unequal distribution of income and wealth, poverty, widespread corruption and weak institutions;
(c) The "organized chaos" advocated by some leaders in the West, which is aimed at disintegrating the Arab region and at creating unsupported links in a cultural context between Arab sub-regions and non-Arab regions. This results from and can lead to pre-emptive wars;

(d) The Israeli settlements, which are at the centre of discord in the Arab-Israeli conflict;

(e) External aggression and internal tensions as a result of marginalization, misuse of resources and despotism;

(f) Both random and organized acts of violence, which lead to wars and represent a main source of misery in the region;

(g) The direct and indirect cost of the wars in the Arab region, including the brain drain, the state of religious and ethnic disarray and the cost of armament;

(h) Political instability that instigates capital and investment flight, particularly long-term investment;

(i) The limited size of the market and its fragmented state, as well as the low rate of intraregional trade.

11. The main solutions proposed to meet the above challenges were as follows:

(a) Establishing national, food and knowledge security;

(b) Promoting a new social contract that is based on mutual understanding between the various social categories, thereby leading to strong social immunity by providing a new set of social policies and social networks that guarantee a minimum standard of living;

(c) Extending the scope of democratic practices;

(d) Establishing an early warning system by building statistical capacities that help the region prepare for various scenarios and adopt adequate pre-emptive policies;

(e) Coordinating collective negotiation policies among Arab countries and strengthening Arab intergovernmental organizations in order to limit the negative impact of globalization;

(f) Adopting a long-term concept of national security based on self-sufficiency and capacity building in all fields, particularly information;

(g) Narrowing the gap between personal and public interests;

(h) Building economic coalitions with other regions in order to guarantee fairness in trade and to coordinate WTO related policies:

(i) Promoting accountability, immediate institutional reform and the rotation of power;

(j) Activating the independent role of the United Nations as a balancing factor:

(k) Directing national wealth towards local productive projects and encouraging these initiatives by supporting private investment and providing it with guarantees.
2. Achievement of the Millennium Development Goals in ESCWA member countries

12. A round-table discussion was held under this agenda item to discuss the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) in ESCWA member countries. The round table, in which Ms. Heba Nassar, Mr. Adeeb Nehmeh and ESCWA’s coordinator in charge of MDGs participated, was chaired by His Excellency Jubara Bin Eid Al-Suraiser, the Minister of Transport in Saudi Arabia.

13. The Executive Secretary opened the discussion by presenting the Goals that were adopted by 189 States Members of the United Nations who committed to achieving the following: eradicate extreme poverty and hunger; achieve universal primary education; promote gender equality and empower women; reduce child mortality; improve maternal health; combat HIV/AIDS, malaria and other diseases; ensure environmental sustainability and develop a global partnership for development. The Executive Secretary stressed that these Goals were the result of the various international conferences that were held by the United Nations. She stated that ESCWA, like other regional commissions, was monitoring the achievement of these Goals and assessing whether the region would be able to fulfill them by 2015, as expected. Moreover, ESCWA was working in cooperation with all United Nations agencies and organizations in the region on a comprehensive regional report on MDGs in preparation for the follow-up and assessment of the efforts made to implement these Goals, which will be carried out by the General Assembly in September 2005. The Executive Secretary hoped that the countries of the region would be able to achieve the majority of the Millennium Development Goals despite the difficulties and challenges facing them.

14. Within the framework of MDGs, the Executive Secretary stated that Official Development Assistance (ODA) provided for under Goal 8 requires political will from the rich countries in order to fulfill the target of 0.07 per cent of gross domestic product (GDP). This target has not been met in the past 25 years, with the notable exception of a number of developed countries, particularly the Nordic countries that have attained 1 per cent of GDP. She noted that ODA provided by two Arab countries, namely, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia, exceeded the set target to reach 1 per cent of GDP.

15. During the discussion, the panelists raised the following points:

(a) Estimates published in international reports of the number of poor in Arab countries tend to reduce this number and minimize the gravity of the problem. Consequently, combating poverty is not considered a priority issue for the development of Arab countries;

(b) Measuring poverty by the benchmark of one American dollar a day is not valid for assessing poverty in the majority of the Arab countries, which have a high or intermediate level of development and income. Therefore, poverty should be measured by using the national poverty line;

(c) The misunderstandings related to national poverty lines are the result of the difference in definitions of poverty from one country to another, as well as different approaches, measurement methods and research techniques. This, in addition to the gaps in available data, makes it difficult to compare countries;

(d) Far from improving, the issue of poverty is worsening and is being exacerbated by prevailing circumstances;

(e) The ability to achieve the Millennium Development Goals in member countries varies from one country to another;
(f) Educational systems must be updated in response to the changes in technology, the economy and the needs of the labour market;

(g) Efforts need to be made to expand education horizontally in order to face the challenges of the growing population and demographic changes;

(h) The need to focus on training and providing qualified teachers as well as the need to plan for market requirements;

(i) Emphasis must be placed on vocational and technical training, particularly for women, thereby facilitating their needs to reconcile economic with social roles;

(j) Social traditions that hamper the effective participation of women in political and parliamentary life need to be reconsidered.

16. The discussion raised a number of challenges facing the countries of the region in their efforts to achieve the MDGs, including the following:

(a) Political obstacles resulting from the continuing occupation of Arab territories, as well as from political instability and lack of security;

(b) Slow economic growth affecting most countries of the region;

(c) Poor planning of development policies aimed at overcoming the difficulties facing the countries of the region, as well as lack of commitment to and mismanagement of such policies;

(d) Conflicts arising between the needs of a growing population and the requirements of structural economic reform;

(e) Absence of a clear definition of the standards that need to be achieved by 2015 with regard to Goal 8 concerning global partnership for development;

(f) National disparities between urban and rural areas, between the various population groups and between men and women;

(g) Imbalance between the resources and capabilities of the region and the population growth, which represents a challenge for achieving the MDGs.

17. The round-table discussion concluded with the following recommendations:

(a) To adopt policies that address educational issues at the regional level;

(b) To adhere to good governance, efficient management and public accountability, and to combat corruption;

(c) To increase the assistance provided to developing countries, cancel their debts and open the markets to their products;

(d) To confirm the commitment of developing countries aimed at structural economic reforms;

(e) To encourage interregional trade, improve institutional capacities in ESCWA member countries and update their monitoring, follow-up and statistical systems;
(f) To establish a time frame for achieving Goal 8, while taking into consideration various partnership projects;

(g) To coordinate and unify Arab positions at meetings related to MDGs;

(h) To address the reasons for the relapse in some of the indicators, including the increased mortality rate that cannot be sufficiently justified by the adverse security situation;

(i) To study and redress the obstacles to the achievement of MDGs;

(j) To protect vulnerable and marginalized population groups;

(k) To adopt accurate measurement criteria and indicators that reflect the reality of the situation in member countries;

(l) To give special attention to children’s issues, particularly child labour and trade in children;

(m) To link development indicators with the International Comparison Programme (ICP) in view of the close connection between the Programme and the Millennium indicators, particularly given that ICP provides actual measurements through the Purchasing Power Parity.

3. Social policies in ESCWA member countries

18. A round-table discussion was held under this agenda item to discuss social policies in ESCWA member countries. The round table, in which Mr. Kareem Farman and the Chief of the Social Development Division in ESCWA participated, was chaired by Ms. Fatima Al-Balooshi, head of the delegation of Bahrain.

19. The Executive Secretary opened the discussion by stating that the aim of this round table was to seek the opinion of specialists in the member countries with regard to the social policies project being implemented by ESCWA. She explained that ESCWA members were often subject to external criticism for issues related to their social policies, and added that the Commission was working to help its members in this field by spreading knowledge of the concept of integrated social policies; clarifying the difference between social policies and social services; and studying the reasons and criteria of success of social policies in other countries. The Executive Secretary stated that this project would initially be implemented in Bahrain and Palestine upon their request.

20. The presentation of this agenda item by the ESCWA secretariat included the five stages of the project, namely: (a) studying success stories and defining success indicators, criteria and means for supporting social policies; (b) preparing national reports about member countries, including an analysis of the principal sectors, and providing indicators and monitoring progress made; (c) preparing a regional report covering all the issues related to this field; (d) promoting cooperation between ESCWA and its member countries to define national indicators and measure their effectiveness; and (e) organizing information campaigns to raise awareness among decision-makers of the importance of adopting social policies backed by the proper political support.

21. During the discussion the following points were raised:

(a) The relationship between social and economic issues, and the importance of adopting sound social policies tailored to the stage of national economic development;
(b) The correlation between increasing productivity and formulating social policies, which must be taken into consideration in order to avoid potential conflicts between the two;

(c) Political will and political power and their role in encouraging the political participation of women;

(d) The role of education, particularly education of women, and the need to project the image of active and productive women in society, thereby moving away from the traditional image that still exists in educational curricula;

(e) The role of the infrastructure, particularly political and social legislation, in guaranteeing the success of social development as can be drawn from the experiences of the Republic of Korea and Malaysia;

(f) The fact that social policies are much larger in scope than gender issues, given that they encompass such groups and areas as the disabled, the marginalized, the elderly, education and health;

(g) The availability of accurate data and statistics, particularly gender statistics, their importance in defining weaknesses and failures, and the need to take those into consideration;

(h) The importance of emphasizing the role of women in the decision-making process not only at the political level, but also at the economic level.

22. The round table concluded with the following recommendations:

(a) To coordinate social and political issues, while keeping in mind that sustainable development is the ultimate goal and that all policies must lead to its achievement;

(b) To draw up a clear policy defining the role of Arab women in the economic and political spheres;

(c) To seek to activate the participation of women in the political field by encouraging them to run in elections and join constitutional bodies;

(d) To conduct a study on the obstacles that prevent women from participating in productive economic activities;

(e) To study failed experiences in social policies and the reasons for their failure, and not just success stories;

(f) To organize an information campaign through the media at large in all Arab countries aimed at changing the perception of the role of women;

(g) To continue the dialogue on the importance of integrated social policies and their impact on improving economic performance;

(h) To study the impact of technological development in terms of meeting the social needs of individuals and societies in general;

(i) To give due importance to social work focusing on individuals as a valuable endeavour on its own merit.
C. REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY ON THE ACTIVITIES OF THE COMMISSION
(Agenda item 7)

23. The Commission considered this agenda item as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/5. This item comprised four sub-items, which are reviewed below.

1. Implementation of the regular budget activities for the 2004-2005 biennium

24. The Executive Secretary presented this item by providing a general overview of the activities of the Commission, based on document E/ESCWA/23/5(Part I). She pointed out that the activities of ESCWA were related to the prevailing situation in its member countries, and to their needs and to those of their formal and informal institutions and civil society organizations. ESCWA gives particular attention to circumstances arising as a result of the ongoing conflicts in Iraq and Palestine. Within the context of the latter, it convened the Arab-International Forum for Rehabilitation and Development in the Occupied Palestinian Territory: Towards an Independent State, which encouraged many Arab and foreign parties to discuss the actual needs of the Palestinian people. Moreover, a number of studies were presented, which revealed technical, scientific and legal aspects that had not been covered by the media. Consequently, ESCWA has initiated the process of addressing the needs of the Palestinian people and has developed both a medium- and a long-term programme to meet those needs. Additionally, the Commission has successfully built a partnership between the United Nations and the civil society in Palestine and the Palestinian Authority. This practical approach has characterized the work of ESCWA in the six subprogrammes that constitute its activities.

25. The secretariat gave PowerPoint presentations of the activities undertaken by the six subprogrammes under the programme of work as detailed in document E/ESCWA/23/5(Part I)/Add.1.

2. The financial and budgetary position

26. The Commission considered this agenda item, which was introduced with a PowerPoint presentation, as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/5(Part II).

27. During the discussion, it was pointed out that the security and safety budget was close to the budget allocated to technical cooperation activities, which translated into a need for additional resources. It was added that civil society institutions and donor countries do not provide the resources needed to implement ESCWA activities and projects; and given that priority issues require more resources for addressing regional challenges, member countries needed, therefore, to respond to requests by ESCWA to participate in financing its projects.

28. It was mentioned that the information contained in the report on the financial and budgetary position of the Commission represented only a statement of the items of expenditure and was not intended to provide information on the principles guiding the establishment of the budget or on the results of the activities financed by this budget.

29. The secretariat clarified that the document presented under this agenda item was limited to financial matters and showed the status of available resources. In addition, ESCWA budget is a results-based budget, and reports are available on the expenditure and the performance of the Commission’s activities during the biennium 2002-2003. Moreover, given that each activity undertaken by the Commission has specific goals and results, ESCWA is set to issue a report on the implementation of its activities by the end of the current biennium, which will cover the achievements of each substantive division.

30. The Executive Secretary added that the United Nations has recently adopted the results-based budgeting whereby the Programme Planning and Coordination Division monitors the performance of the various activities and assesses their benefits. She pointed out that a questionnaire would be distributed to the delegations that needed to be filled out carefully and objectively in order to assist ESCWA in determining the usefulness of its activities and addressing the shortcomings. Furthermore, she stressed that taking the results into consideration already at the planning stage was not an easy task.

3. The technical cooperation programme and regional advisory services

31. The Commission considered this item, which was introduced with a PowerPoint presentation on the technical cooperation strategy of ESCWA, as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/5(Part III)/Add.1; on the technical cooperation activities financed from extrabudgetary resources, as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/5(Part III)/Add.2; and on the technical cooperation implemented by ESCWA within the scope of the regular programme of technical cooperation for the 2002-2003 biennium, as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/5(Part III)/Add.3.

32. During the discussion, the delegates commended ESCWA’s technical cooperation strategy and highlighted a number of its important aspects. It was noted that ESCWA experts take into consideration the specific situation of each member country in which they deliver their services. It was also noted that the party receiving technical assistance from ESCWA is partly responsible for the success of such assistance by clearly defining its needs and effectively planning its requests. This was considered of special importance given that it complemented the efforts made by ESCWA and helped effectively to build national capacities. Additionally, the delegates commended the activities undertaken by the regional advisors in a number of specialized and technical fields.

33. The Executive Secretary stated that, while ESCWA members were pleased with the technical cooperation activities undertaken by ESCWA as could be inferred from the number of letters of thanks from members countries for the services provided by ESCWA and its regional experts, ministries and governmental bodies were not fully aware of the services offered by ESCWA in this field. She hoped that there would be enhanced communication between the parties receiving technical assistance from ESCWA and the political parties responsible for communication with the United Nations.

4. Recommendations of the United Nations Office of Internal Oversight Services on its audit of the regional commissions

34. The Commission considered this item, which was introduced with a PowerPoint presentation of the report on the recommendations of the United Nations Office of Internal Oversight Services (OIOS) on its audit of the regional commissions, as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/5(Part IV).

35. In response to an inquiry with regard to one of the recommendations of the OIOS relating to the issue of statistics, the Executive Secretary clarified that the Statistics Division worked previously without coordination with the rest of the substantive divisions at ESCWA, thereby resulting in some disparities between the statistics published by the various substantive divisions and those by the Statistics Division. To remedy this situation, the secretariat redeployed its statisticians to the substantive divisions and established a coordination unit for them, while preserving all the human and financial resources of the Statistical Division without any modification. The OIOS recommended that ESCWA assess its statistical activities in view of these changes. In accordance with this recommendation, ESCWA sought the views of the chiefs of substantive division and, following their recommendations, maintained the statisticians redeployed to the various divisions and working in close cooperation with them, thereby guaranteeing the accuracy of the statistics published by the Commission. The financial resources of the statistical activities were pooled into a separate account for the statistics programme, which is subprogramme 6. All statistical activities were placed under the supervision of the senior statistician of the Commission in charge of the Statistical Coordination Unit.

36. The Commission took note of these explanations given by the secretariat.

D. GENERAL DEBATE: ISSUES OF WHICH THE TWENTY-THIRD SESSION IS SEIZED
(Agenda item 8)

37. The delegation of Saudi Arabia gave a PowerPoint presentation, under this item, of the development in the international roads network of the Arab Mashreq within its territory. The presentation included details of the roads, their specifications and their length, which represents 40 per cent of the total length of the region's network.

38. The following main points were raised in the general debate:

(a) The continuing political instability and its impact on economic growth and on reaching solutions for many of the problems of poverty and unemployment, and the need to take such issues into consideration;

(b) The need to continue to monitor and assess the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals and to enable the region to achieve the majority of these Goals by 2015;

(c) The importance of social policies and of close cooperation with Governments in order to improve social conditions;

(d) The importance of statistics and the need to give special attention to the statistics programme;

(e) The importance of regional cooperation, which is reflected in the integrated transport system in the Arab Mashreq, comprising roads, railways and maritime lines;

(f) The appreciation of the programmes undertaken by ESCWA to serve the region in the economic and social fields, and the attention given to countries emerging from armed conflicts, making special mention of the report on Palestine and of the Arab-International Forum for Rehabilitation and Development in the Occupied Palestinian Territory: Towards an Independent State.

E. ADOPTION OF THE MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING ON COOPERATION IN THE FIELD OF MARITIME TRANSPORT IN THE ARAB MASHREQ
(Agenda item 9)

39. The Commission considered this item as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/6. The secretariat stated that the Memorandum of Understanding on Cooperation in the Field of Maritime Transport was the third initiative undertaken by ESCWA in the field of transport and complements transport coordination efforts in the ESCWA region, which now cover transport by road, railways and maritime transport. It was also stated that the aim of this Memorandum of Understanding was to develop and implement harmonized maritime policies, thereby leading to the sustainable development of the commercial fleets of member countries and enhancing cooperation among them at regional and sub-regional levels, and with other regions of the world.
40. The Memorandum of Understanding on Cooperation in the Field of Maritime Transport in the Arab Mashreq was adopted after adding to its preamble a mention of relevant issues that emanated from the Arab Summit held in Algiers in March 2005.

41. The Memorandum was signed during the official signing ceremony, which was held in the presence of the legal advisor of the Secretary-General of the United Nations, by the following members: Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Palestine, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Syrian Arab Republic and Yemen.

F. DRAFT PROGRAMME OF WORK FOR THE 2006-2007 BIENNIIUM
(Agenda item 10)

42. The Commission considered this item as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/7. The Executive Secretary explained that the strategic framework for 2006-2007 has replaced the medium-term plan that was the basis of the work of the United Nations. The aim of the strategic framework is to plan for two years instead of five years in order to keep up with the pace of change in member countries and the world in general.

43. The member countries approved the programme of work for the 2006-2007 biennium as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/7. The discussion focused on population policies, the importance of new technologies in various fields and not limited to communication, and the need to coordinate with the European Union in the area of transport agreements.

G. COOPERATION BETWEEN ESCWA AND THE LEAGUE OF ARAB STATES
(Agenda item 11)

44. The Commission considered this item as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/8. The Executive Secretary stated that cooperation between ESCWA and the League of Arab States (LAS) existed in all fields and that ESCWA was represented at a number of meetings of the Ministerial Councils of the LAS, including the Council of Arab Ministers Responsible for the Environment. She highlighted the comparative advantages of LAS, particularly in the political field, and the advantages of ESCWA, especially in its technical fields of specialization; and mentioned that combining the advantages of the two organizations would be greatly beneficial to member countries and would strengthen their cooperation. Coordination between the two could serve the interests of all Arab countries, particularly through the official representation of ESCWA at the meetings of the League's bodies that could facilitate cooperation. She added that a Memorandum of Understanding was signed by both organizations a few years ago and that it could be useful to revise its content in order to enhance the effectiveness of both organizations in serving their respective members.

45. The representative of LAS explained that there was a certain mechanism for attending the meetings of the Economic and Social Council of the League, and that ESCWA would be welcome to attend these meetings if the secretariat presented the required request. Moreover, LAS welcomed any suggestions by ESCWA aimed at strengthening cooperation between the two organizations, and would give these suggestions due consideration within its related bodies given that they could serve the interests of its member countries.

46. During the discussion, a number of issues were raised, including the need to use the resources of ESCWA and LAS to serve their members. It was stressed that the comparative advantage of each of the two organizations represented their real value and that, moreover, ESCWA needed to take into consideration those Arab countries that are not members of the Commission given that a wider political scope strengthens the commitment of the countries of the region towards achieving integration.
47. The Executive Secretary affirmed that it should not be implied that cooperation between ESCWA and LAS was being questioned. Cooperation between the two organizations has been continuous for a number of years. Within the framework of a United Nations resolution that calls for periodic meetings between the United Nations and LAS to enhance cooperation, such a meeting was planned in Beirut in May 2005. However, this meeting was rescheduled given the prevailing circumstances. The Executive Secretary emphasized that the relationship between ESCWA and LAS is strong and that there was complete understanding between the Secretary-General of LAS and the Executive Secretary of ESCWA. She hoped that the two organizations would be able to reach an ideal formula for effective cooperation and coordination.

H. DATE AND VENUE OF THE TWENTY-FOURTH SESSION OF THE COMMISSION
   (Agenda item 12)

48. The Commission considered this item as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/9. The secretariat stated that ESCWA holds its sessions normally every other year in odd years. The seven subsidiary bodies of ESCWA also hold their sessions every other year, with the exception for the Committee on Transport that holds its session every year. However, given that the strategic framework is being adopted in even years, it was suggested that ESCWA hold its session in even years to be in harmony with the submission and approval of the strategic framework. This will necessitate holding a session in 2006 to align ESCWA’s sessions with the schedule of the strategic framework. Consequently, the Commission suggested that the next session of ESCWA be held in April 2006 in Beirut, unless it received an invitation to hold it in another venue.

49. The Commission approved the suggestion made by the secretariat as set forth in document E/ESCWA/23/9.

I. OTHER BUSINESS
   (Agenda item 13)

50. The participants decided to address a telegram to His Excellency the President of the Syrian Arab Republic, Doctor Bashar Assad, to thank him for sponsoring the session and for the gracious hospitality that was extended to the participating delegations.

IV. ADOPTION OF THE REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON ITS TWENTY-THIRD SESSION

V. ORGANIZATION OF WORK

A. DATE AND VENUE

52. The Commission held its twenty-third session in Damascus from 9 to 12 May 2005. The Commission convened five plenary meetings during which it discussed the items listed on its agenda.

B. OPENING OF THE SESSION
The opening session was held under the patronage of His Excellency the President of the Syrian Arab Republic, Doctor Bashar Assad, who was represented by the Minister of Finance in the Syrian Arab Republic, Mr. Mohammad Hussein.

The representative of Egypt, Mr. Essam Sharaf, opened the session in his capacity as chairman of the twenty-second session. In his opening statement he said that Egypt commended the work of ESCWA during the period it chaired the session, particularly its achievements in the field of transport, building the capacity of member countries in dealing with globalization, increasing their negotiation capabilities, intensifying training programmes and increasing the technical support given to its members. He added that member countries are in need of the services provided by ESCWA in the economic and social fields, while ESCWA is in need of the financial and moral support of its members, in Arab and international forums and especially in the General Assembly. He concluded his statement by saying that he was pleased to hand over the chairmanship of the session to the host country.

The Executive Secretary of ESCWA delivered a statement in which she welcomed the participants and thanked the Syrian Arab Republic for hosting the twenty-third session of ESCWA. She said that most of the countries of the region were experiencing difficult times, especially in view of the wars and conflicts. However, ESCWA managed to make notable progress in some areas. Among the positive developments in the region, she mentioned the improved overall economic performance during 2003 and 2004, increased oil revenues, relative stability of the exchange rates, limited inflation and improved external trade. Among the challenges still facing the region, she mentioned rising unemployment rates, low levels of domestic and foreign investment, low numbers of tourists visiting the Arab region, low rates of interregional trade, continued high illiteracy rates despite the improvements achieved in that field, lack of integrated social policies that define the citizens rights and duties, and various population issues.

The Executive Secretary stressed the need to intensify efforts made to achieve regional integration; increase cooperation between the countries of the region; strengthen collective action by institutions, the private sector and the civil society in the Arab world; and direct a fair share of investments towards productive activities.

The Executive Secretary read out a message addressed by the Secretary-General to the twenty-third session of the Commission. In that statement, the Secretary-General greeted the participants and referred to the political tension in the region, which had not deterred its people from spreading freedom, achieving progress and implementing reform. He also stated that there could be no security without development and no development without security, and that neither could be achieved without respect for human rights and the rule of law.

The Minister of Finance in the Syrian Arab Republic, Mr. Mohammad Hussein, delivered a statement in his capacity as representative of the patron of the session, during which he welcomed the participants and confirmed his country’s conviction in the balanced and sustainable approaches of the United Nations towards economic and social development, as well as its strong belief in the role of the United Nations for promoting international cooperation, and for bringing peace to the world and especially to the Arab world. He stated that the Syrian Arab Republic, by hosting the twenty-third session of ESCWA, expressed its continued and pervasive interest in enhancing regional cooperation, integration and coordination. He gave a brief presentation of his country's achievements in this respect and concluded his statement by wishing the participants success in their deliberations and in reaching important results and recommendations serving the interests of the region.

C. PARTICIPATION
59. The session was attended by representatives of the 13 members of ESCWA, as well as representatives of other States Members of the United Nations that are not members of ESCWA who participated as observers. Other observers included representatives of United Nations programmes, bodies and institutions; representatives of international organizations, non-governmental organizations and other organizations; and a number of experts.
