Migration and Remittances Factual Report 2015 was compiled by Ali Zbeeb in his capacity as the ESCWA project consultant on “Strengthening Capacities to Utilize Workers’ Remittances for Development”, he is also the President of the Development Association for Nurturing Arab Leadership and Innovation (DANALI). Special thanks to the members of the ESCWA Lebanese National Committee for Migration and Remittances for their feedback and for providing the programs, profiles, tables, and graphs related to the services delivered by their entities, and to the research assistants for collecting the data from various sources.

The author gratefully acknowledges the constructive comments and advice given at the various stages of writing this report from to Dr. Khaled Hussein the Economic Advisor in ESCWA. The production of this report was driven by the conviction that the migrant power derived from leadership and innovation of the Lebanese expatriates represents a main pillar for economic development and sustainability.

Last but not least, I would like to express my special gratitude and apologies to my wife and son whose special family time was compromised for me to be able to deliver this report at a timely manner.
SECTION 1: Introduction and Background

1.1 Project in Brief from a regional perspective:

The project titled “Strengthening Capacities to Utilize Workers’ Remittances for Development”\(^1\) mainly aims to strengthen capacities of government officials and financial institutions to formulate and adopt strategies, policies and programs to tap part of expatriates’ savings to directly finance long term developmental projects in priority sectors to support achieving SDGs in selected Arab states. This would be implemented through providing relevant technical support while working closely with policy makers.

Over the past two decades and more strictly for the past five years, the majority of the MENA countries are in desperate need for this initiative since it has a direct impact on poverty reduction and reconstruction, due to numerous factors including but not limited to (i) Meeting the “Post 2015 Sustainable Development Goals”, (ii) Financing the USD $3.6 Trillion Financing Gap in the Arab Region, and (iii) The Arab Region’s countries crave for sources to fill the abovementioned gap since 90% of the remittances go to consumption instead of economically sustainable sectors.

This project is providing a new approach that enhances the transfer of further remittances which is a new source for long term investment and different from the conventional financial sources and ideas related to remittances. There are vivid mutual benefits for the member countries to collaborate with ESCWA on this project especially since they are already convinced with and committed to this unprecedented revolutionary approach.

The Project, initiated by ESCWA, has so far involved 11 Arab States, 4 of which are amongst the Least Developing Countries. The progress has been remarkable where the project has so far produced 10 technical papers that were shared with policy makers and published, as well as holding a series of workshops that involved all stakeholders (Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Investment Authority, Ministry of Migration, Central banks, banking institutions, NGOs) in Egypt, Lebanon, Tunisia, Morocco, Sudan and Yemen. In addition and as a result of the project policy recommendations, policy makers decided to form National Committees to implement this imitative on ground in Lebanon, Sudan and Yemen. Over and above, ESCWA has established a regional committee construed of representatives from the project countries as well as independent regional experts.

1.2 Project in Brief on the Lebanese Scale:

Lebanon is a notable case of an economy dependent on remittances, with a steady outflow of emigrants that ensures regular inflows of remittances. Some estimates state that Lebanon has an overseas Diaspora of around 14 million people – more than three times the size of its domestic population – that continues to send billions of dollars back home every year. The vast majority of those migrants are skilled or highly skilled labour. Subsequently, Lebanon ranks 18th amongst recipients of remittances globally and the third among 48 Upper Middle Income Countries; Remittance inflows to Lebanon reached $47.7 billion in 2014, constituting an increase of 1.6% from 2013. These remittances constitute 16.2% of GDP and rank 13th for the highest ratio in the world. Lebanese expatriates in Arab Gulf constitute the highest proportion of Lebanese expatriates and provide the largest share at 66.3% of remittances.

Remittances of Lebanese expatriates are directed mostly towards household expenses: 56% used for living expenses, 24% for education, 5% for real estate and 10% towards direct investment. Experts argue that despite the importance of remittances to the Lebanese economy, Lebanon does not have a specific Diaspora policy that would attract remittances towards productive investments. Although the Lebanese financial sector remains one of the most developed in the region, with 54 active commercial banks and 10 specialized medium and long-term credit banks managing an equivalent of $175 billion in assets nationwide, this is not translated into better conditions for financial access to expatriates.

Moreover, remittances are essential for supporting the solvency of Lebanon’s banks, thus consolidating the potential of the banks to finance the economy, in particular their ability to buy Lebanese treasury bonds. This promotes monetary stability, the only source of stability in a country buffeted by the region’s political and security crises.

In 2015, ESCWA coordinated efforts and succeeded in getting major stakeholders and main key players on the Lebanese arena in the field of migration and remittances and formed the “National Committee on Migration and Remittances”.

2 The National Committee on Migration and Remittances was established by ESCWA in the first quarter of 2015. It included all stakeholders in Lebanon involved in migration and remittances.
The National Committee comprised of 9 key players (1) Beirut Bar Association (BBA), (2) Central Bank of Lebanon (BDL), (3) Development Association for Nurturing Arab Leadership & Innovation (DANALI), (4) Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (ESCWA), (5) Lebanese General Directorate of General Security (GDGS), (6) Lebanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MoFA) – General Directorate of Immigrants, (7) Lebanese Ministry of Finance (MoF), (8) Union of Arab Banks (UAB), (9) United Nations Development Project (UNDP).

The Author of this Factual Report acts as the coordinator of the National Committee in his capacity as the Project Consultant for ESCWA, as well as sitting on the Regional Committee as an expert with ESCWA.

The year 2015 witnessed solid work and was successful by all standards based on the number of technical papers published and the work done. In Lebanon, the National Committee met on monthly basis and the members shown above showed full commitments towards achieving the anticipated results. Nevertheless, there was a conviction amongst all members that the country suffered from a proper infrastructure for migration, including the remittances factor of course. It was clear that there neither was a unified national strategic plan for migration in Lebanon, nor were there economic and regulatory structures to cater for migrants and their remittances.

As a result, ESCWA suggested producing a National Factual Report for Lebanon which crystallizes the current situation by revealing what currently exists. This was orchestrated by requesting each member of the National Committee to submit a thematic institution-specific factual report, of which ESCWA would compile with the rest of the thematic institution-specific factual reports from the other committee members to come up with a national factual report that would help draw the roadmap for action, towards constructing the National Strategy for Migration and Development.
Section Two: Objectives and Expected Outcomes of the Report

The present report represents the findings of all the Members of the Lebanese Committee for Remittances and Development who submitted their theme-specific reports; in addition the Author of this report lead a research team to compile any additional information required and complement all the parts of the theme-specific reports submitted.

This report is expected to be a reference in terms of the services and products offered by the public and private sectors in Lebanon for the Lebanese migrants specifically and in the fields of migration and remittances in Lebanon on a more general scale.

The final objective of this report is to serve as an assisting tool to set the platform for the production of a National Strategy for Migration in Lebanon which will pave the way to produce laws, legislations and regulations strictly related to migration and remittances. Such final objective may only be met upon revealing the current situation on ground, namely through shedding the light on all types of services provided by the government as well as the private sector, to Lebanese migrants and mainly expatriates from social, economical and investment perspectives.

As a result, the idea behind producing this factual report was born, and the sub reports which were submitted by all stakeholders played a vital role in the production of this report.

It is anticipated, that any government or entity who gets involved in the development of services to enhance Lebanese migration contribution in society would seek the information found in this report, in order for such parties to conduct the sound evaluation and assessment for what currently exist and is needed further. Such evaluation will aid any involved or interested party to soundly allocate its resources in accordance to needs based on the gaps identified.
SECTION 3: Main National Stakeholders

3.1 Lebanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants (MoFAE)

“The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants is the primary national authority responsible for questions relating to Lebanese citizens residing abroad. The former Ministry of Emigrants was created by Law No. 213 of 1993. As the Law No. 247 of 2000 came into force, the Ministry of Emigrants was incorporated into the Ministry of Foreign Affairs to become the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants. The original structure of the Ministry of Emigrants was preserved within the newly established Ministry and was renamed as the Directorate of Emigrants, which has become the main player for the relation between the Lebanese Government and the Diaspora all around the globe.

In the context of Lebanese emigrants, the main objective of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants is to protect the interest of Lebanese citizens living abroad and to foster their ties with Lebanon. To achieve this objective, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants has established a framework for linking up with Lebanese nationals abroad based on the following principles:

- Sincerity and transparency in communication with Lebanese emigrants: Embassies and consulates represent Lebanon abroad, protect the interests of Lebanese emigrants, and play an important role in facilitating linkages between Lebanon and its Diaspora.

- Public and Private Sectors: The Government of Lebanon acknowledges the positive role of emigrant communities for development. Among policies used to link emigrants to the development of Lebanon, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs encourages close cooperation between private and public sectors.

- Educational ties of emigrants: Maintaining the link of the young generation of Lebanese emigrant communities with Lebanon by establishing Lebanese schools and institutes teaching the Arabic language.

- Emigrants’ Associations: Encouraging Lebanese emigrants to create Lebanese local unions, associations and clubs, in order to consolidate links among Lebanese emigrants. Through Lebanese embassies, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants organizes cultural and social events to promote Lebanon’s cultural heritage. The Government of Lebanon also provides grants to the World Lebanese Cultural Union (EN) for its cultural activities.

- Role of Remittances: Remittances from Lebanese emigrants are of considerable economic importance to Lebanon. The Government does not interfere in the inflow of remittances from Lebanese emigrants. Through its support to the UNDP LIVE LEBANON initiative, the Government of Lebanon, however, has been increasing its efforts to channel parts of the contributions of Lebanese emigrant communities into development projects.

- Dual Citizenship: The role of dual citizenship has been an important factor in strengthening cultural, social and economic links between Lebanese emigrants and their home country.”

3.1.a General Directorate of Emigrants\(^5\)
As a section of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Directorate of Emigrants was established in 2000 by Law No. 247. Its main objective is to enhance cultural and educational bonds with Lebanese emigrants.

Outreach activities of the Directorate of Emigrants are carried out mainly through Lebanese diplomatic representations abroad. The authority participates in various international dialogues and research networks addressing emigrant affairs. Moreover, the Directorate of Emigrants cooperates with international organizations in the domain of Lebanese emigration. The Directorate of Emigrants, has, since 1993, accomplished quantum leaps in terms of establishing solid platforms of communications and relations with the Lebanese Diaspora, whereby the reach out and communication and coordination with for the immigration power and Diaspora in general is conducted through various channels, mainly as follows:

\(^5\) The GDE was an independent “Ministry of Emigrants”, but it was merged with MoFA in 2000.
- The official indirect communication through embassies and consulates:
  Whereby the communities are reached through official channels, mainly embassies and consulates, on several matters such as of the organization of general elections, serving of legal notifications, passing of governmental accords and similar issues are coordinated for the immigrants.

- The direct relationship and communication through associations and communities' representatives:
  Whereby the coordination takes place between the Directorate of Immigrants and the representatives of communities as well as the Lebanese associations, clubs, organizations, groups and other similar channels and individual initiatives.

The Directorate attempts to cater for the needs of the Lebanese Diaspora and at the same time realize the importance of the contribution of the migrants to the Lebanese economy through remittance inflows. As a result, the Directorate has been calling for more protection for the migrant who should be treated as a de facto investor and should provide him with securities that play as a main incentive for further contribution in the Lebanese economy.

The Directorate, which takes part in conferences related to migration around the world, is in continuous discussion about the challenges faced by the migrants, and is calling for further improvement and for policy recommendations for the benefit of all.

In spite of the above performance, the road still seems spiky and the Directorate needs to do much more in terms of coordination and collaboration\(^6\) in order to place the Diaspora relations management on all levels on the right track.

3.1.b Directorate of Political and Consular Affairs

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants created the Consular Section at the Directorate of Political and Consular Affairs in order to provide protection and assistance to Lebanese citizens residing abroad. The Consular Section provides Lebanese citizens living abroad with crucial services including, the following:

\(^6\) Internal anomalies and conflicts have surfaced between the GDE and MoFA in 2014 and 2015.

- Renewal and authentication of official documents and passports
- Information on investment opportunities as well as on political and economic developments in Lebanon; in addition to providing information on tourism;
- Recording and registration of all personal status related matters such as Lebanese citizenship, birth, death, divorce, marriage and other similar procedures
- Information on activities organized in Lebanon and/or the respective destination country addressing Lebanese residing abroad;
- Registration for outside country voting in Lebanese elections.

3.2 Civil Society and Non-Governmental Organizations involved with Emigrants

According to the 2013 Joint ICMPD-IOM Project "Linking Emigrant Communities for More Development Inventory of Institutional Capacities and Practices", the large numbers of community-based national and international migrant organizations reflect the solid tradition of support to Lebanese emigrants. The Lebanese NGOs are involved in main sectors such as Local Infrastructure Support, Social Services, Education, Health, Cultural Activities, and Religious endowments, among others.

3.3 Involved Investors and Financial Institutions

The financial playfield able to manage remittances inflow are the following, noting that the public sector regretfully remains the weakest link.

The financial institutions are main players in teaming up to draw a map for economic regeneration of any country. The remittances in developing countries, namely Lebanon, constitute a prime source of income and a main factor for economic restoration. The financial playfield able to channel those flows consists of the (i) Central Bank of Lebanon; (ii) the public sector through the Ministry of Finance, the Ministry of Economy and Trade; (iii) the private sector represented by the commercial banks and the association representing them; and (iv) specialized bodies such as the Investment Development Authority of Lebanon (IDAL).
The Central Bank of Lebanon (BDL)”, is referred to as the backbone of the country's economy, based on its strong history of maintaining economic stability and fiscal equilibrium. Many oppose the BDL’s performance for being too rigid in terms of imposing strict regulation on financial institutions while not making sufficient efforts to capitalize on important sources of income such as the inflow of remittances.

During the past five years, the commercial banks have commenced developing special banking services for Lebanese immigrants and expatriates through offering tailored financial packages suitable to their needs. This can be perceived as a good step towards creating incentive schemes to attract more capital and revive the link of expatriate Lebanese with their homeland. Nevertheless, the public sector remains the weakest link among the financial players in their mission to incentivize the expatriates to invest in Lebanon. To date, there are no visionary attempts to make the Lebanese government a pioneer in catering for its citizens abroad by offering them what many other countries offer to the nationals in terms of economic opportunities.

3.4 Investment Development Authority of Lebanon (IDAL)

It is the national investment promotion agency involved attracting, facilitating and retaining investments in Lebanon. It was established in 1994 with administrative and financial autonomy. IDAL is not a regulating body, and thus operates under the current existing regulations and legislations in order to deploy them to the best.

The main relevant law is the Investment Law No.360 enacted in 2001. It is the prime reinforcement for IDAL’s mission that mainly plays the following roles:

- Providing a framework for regulating investment activities in Lebanon.
- Providing investors with a range of incentives and business support services.
- Identifying a set of priority sectors that showed the most promising opportunities in terms of their investment potential and their impact on socio-economic growth, mainly in the sectors of Communication, Industry, Technology Agriculture, Media, tourism, agro-industry, and information.
- In charge of the active promotion and marketing of Lebanese exports.
SECTION 4: Services, Products, Activities and Initiatives offered in Lebanon by all involved entities and stakeholders in different sectors relating to Migration and Remittances

1. Existing laws, regulations, legislations, policies, decrees, orders and texts related to Lebanese migration in general

The Lebanese history has been marked by numerous emigration waves since 1840\(^7\). In spite of the significant contribution of the remittances inflow in the wellbeing of the Lebanese economy (18% of the GDP), the continuous turbulence in Lebanon and its politically unstable environment have prevented the establishment of a comprehensive policy to increase the national integration of the Lebanese Diaspora.

During the thorough research which was conducted by the Beirut Bar Association and an independent team of researchers in order to identify the laws, regulations, decrees, decisions and legislation related to emigration and specially remittances in Lebanon, there clearly appeared a deep lack of a legal framework addressing immigration issues. However, a group of researchers has responded to the request made to BBA and undertook a research effort to identify all legal texts that relate directly or indirectly to emigrants and migration.

Nevertheless, The Lebanese authorities have set as priority the improvement of the investment climate in Lebanon. For this purpose, serious efforts were deployed to modernize the regulatory framework of investment in order to offer the most suitable climate to foreigners and nationals desiring to invest in Lebanon. The most recent legislative changes through introducing new legislative acts and treaties, as detailed below:

1.1 National Legislation

In spite of the lack of concrete legislations relating directly to the Lebanese migration and more specifically remittances, there appears to be various regulatory texts pertaining to Lebanese emigrant communities.

The following represents the main regulatory texts relating to migration.

1.1.A. 2001 Law amending the 1969 law on the acquisition by foreigners of real estate and real estate rights in Lebanon (section I):

All non-Lebanese persons, whether legal or natural persons, and Lebanese legal persons considered by the Law as non-Lebanese as defined by Article 2 (at least one share owned by a non-Lebanese), willing to acquire any real estate right on the Lebanese territory are required to obtain a license granted by decree from Council of Ministers upon proposal of the Minister of Finance.

1.1.B. Law on fighting money laundering (section III):

Lebanon is aware of the necessity to combat money laundering particularly because the banking secrecy Law could be used as a means for such illegal operations. With this respect, the Lebanese Parliament endorsed on April 20, 2001 Law No. 318 on combating money laundering.

1.1.C. 2002 Law amending the Lebanese law on civil proceedings regarding arbitration (section IV):

The most interesting amendment (Law No 440 dated August 1, 2002) related to investment climate is the clear statement allowing the Lebanese State as well as persons of Public Law to seek either internal or international arbitration to settle a dispute related to a contract, whatever is the nature of this contract. However, the amending law added that in the case of an administrative contract, for instance a concession granted by contract, the arbitration clause should obtain prior approval by decree issued by the Council of Ministers upon the proposal of the relevant minister or the relevant guardian authority.
1.1.D. Dual Citizenship

i) Decree No. 15 of 1925 (EN), as amended by Law of 11/1/1960 (EN), also known as the “Lebanese Nationality Law”. The law defines Lebanese nationality and lays out procedures to be followed by foreign women married to Lebanese men wishing acquire Lebanese nationality.

ii) Law of 1946 (EN), as amended by Decree No. 10828 of 1962 (EN), regulates the acquisition of foreign citizenship and the loss of Lebanese nationality. Article 1.1 states that Lebanese citizenship can be renounced by Lebanese citizens having obtained a foreign nationality only through authorization by decree.

iii) Decree No. 10828 of 1962 (EN) facilitates the acquisition of a foreign nationality in countries, where acquisition of the local citizenship requires Lebanese citizens to renounce other citizenships. Subsequently, another Decree issued at the request of this same person allowing re-acquisition of the Lebanese citizenship.

Article 2 elaborates on the conditions set for a person of Lebanese origin wishing to acquire the Lebanese citizenship: “Any person of Lebanese origin who is residing outside Lebanon and who has opted not to take Lebanese citizenship, may, in the event that he returns permanently to Lebanon, apply to be considered as a Lebanese and the Cabinet is authorized to issue a regulation to that effect.”

iv) Law No. 25 of 2008 (EN) allows emigrants to vote parliamentary elections even if they are non-residents. The main parts of the articles are the following:

Article 106

Upon the ratification of this law, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants shall invite, via Lebanese embassies and consulates, all the Lebanese non-resident natives fulfilling the abovementioned conditions, to voice their wish to participate in voting from their country of residence. They shall proceed by registering their names either personally or by a duly registered letter submitted to the embassy or consulate of their choice, including all the relevant information on their identity and register number. The timeframe for registration shall not exceed the 31st of December of every year preceding the parliamentary elections. After this date, the non-resident Lebanese natives’ right to vote in the subsequent parliamentary elections ceases to be valid.

Article 107

The concerned embassies and consulates shall consecutively send at the end of every week, the names of persons registered to the Ministry of Interior and Municipalities, via the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants.

The Ministry of Interior shall verify the registration of those names on the voters' rolls and shall, after the expiry of the registration timeframe, prepare independent voters' rolls for each embassy or consulate, including the names of eligible voters, distributed on basis of electoral districts. However, the number of registered voters in one electoral district shall not be less than 200 voters.

Article 108

Ministry of Interior shall send, via Ministry of Foreign Affairs & Emigrants, the independent voters' rolls to all concerned embassies and consulates.

Article 109

The ambassador or consul coordinates with the Ministry of Interior and Municipalities and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Emigrants to form the panel of each polling station. Party agents may be present during the voting, counting of votes and announcement of results.

Article 110

Voting outside Lebanon shall be made ten days at the most before the Election Day in Lebanon, according to the concerned electoral districts, and with the use of opaque sealable envelopes of one type adopted and stamped by the Ministry of Interior and Municipalities.
1.1.E. The Law of “Reacquisition of Lebanese Citizenship to the Descendants of Lebanese migrants”

Law titled “The Reacquisition of Lebanese Citizenship to the Descendants of Lebanese Emigrants”,8 to grant those of Lebanese origin the nationality on the basis of certain procedures and legal pathways. This law has marked a quantum leap in the history of Lebanese policy making and legislative drafting in spite of the large loophole related to acquiring the nationality through motherhood. As for this new law, and twelve years after the submission of the law proposal to reinstate Lebanese nationality to immigrants, and four years after its endorsement by the Cabinet during the mandate of former President Michel Suleiman, the House of Parliament finally approved it during its session on 12/11/2015 after it was placed on the House discussion agenda following intense negotiation9. The text of the law is as follows:

Article I

Every natural person who meets one of the two eligibility requirements has the right to reclaim his/her Lebanese nationality.

i. If the records of the 1921 census at the Ministry of the Interior and Municipalities, and the records of emigration clearly indicate that he/she or any direct paternal ancestral/predecessors or next of kin to the fourth degree were present in the Republic of Lebanon, as registered by the 1921 census records at the Ministry of the Interior and Municipalities (that will prove the emigration to a direct paternal/ancestral predecessor.

ii. If he/she or the above mentioned ancestral predecessors or next of kin were naturalized as Lebanese citizens according to the law of naturalization promulgated in January 19, 1925, and has neglected to claim or reclaim his/her citizenship. In other words, most emigrants required little more than their emigration papers that listed origins, which luckily were preserved in Beirut.

9 Guita Hourani (28 December 2011). "New Lebanese Draft Law Extends the Reacquisition of Lebanese Citizenship to the Descendants of Lebanese Emigrants".
Article II

This draft intends to verify the “actual presence of Lebanese relatives in the town, village or neighborhood,” which an individual would claim, including the degree of kinship, along with any ownership/holding of rights to real property that may have been “devised, bequeathed, or inherited from a Lebanese citizen.”

Once approved, and according to article 8, a successful candidate for citizenship would take the following oath of allegiance before an ambassador or Consul-General (if overseas), or before the court of competent jurisdiction where his/her records are present in the Republic of Lebanon. Although bureaucratic in nature, this aspect of the proposed law was meant to encourage associations with the land, a defining feature of Lebanese nationality. The draft law would allow grandchildren of Lebanese paternal grandfathers to apply for citizenship. The latest draft law would help Lebanese expatriates take part in future Lebanese parliamentary elections by voting at Lebanese embassies abroad. The number of Lebanese living outside the country is thought to be at least double the number of citizens living inside.

1.1.F. Legal texts involving financial incentives

Since 2001, the Lebanese Government has established a number of laws and decrees to encourage investment in Lebanon.

These legal incentives, aiming to promote investment in Lebanon include:

i) Legislative Decree No. 11614 of 1969 as amended by Law No. 296 of 2001 on the Foreign Acquisition of Property and Property Rights in Lebanon (EN): Regulating Real estate access for Lebanese and foreign nationals and eases legal restrictions on foreign property ownership, thus encouraging investments in Lebanon, particularly in industry and tourism.

   The law also lowers real estate registration fees for both Lebanese and foreign nationals.

ii) Law No. 318 of 2001 on Combating Money Laundering (EN).

iii) Law No. 440 - 2002 Arbitration State Vs Private Entities in Lebanon

iv) Law No. 360 of 2001 "the investment Law": regulates the investment promotion of domestic and foreign entities in Lebanon and stipulates a series of incentives, such as tax exemptions granted for investments in fields of technology, information, telecommunications and media, tourism, industry and agriculture. The law divides Lebanon into three investment zones located outside Beirut that are subject to different regulations. This law also established the public agency Investment Development Authority of Lebanon (IDAL) entrusted to develop a program encouraging and attracting Lebanese emigrants to invest in Lebanon. In this context, IDAL is preparing the project (TLE) = Targeting Lebanese Expatriates with the goal of encouraging Lebanese emigrants to invest in Lebanon.

1.1.G. Agreements related to International investment promotion & protection

These Agreements provide a legal framework for investments of Lebanese citizens residing abroad in more than 40 countries in Africa, Asia, Europe and other.

- Instructions number 521/s2: The tax treatment of amounts paid to residents of countries associated with the Lebanon agreements to avoid double taxation
- Instructions number 1071/s1: The mechanism of the tax treatment of interest and dividends paid to a resident in France so that this resident will not pay twice the taxes in Lebanon and France.
- Order of the minister number 349/s1: Exemption of deposits and other bank liabilities in foreign currency belonging to non-residents from Income tax on the benefits.
- Instructions number 1479/s1: Terms of the application of the exemption from VAT for operations financed from external sources to departments and public interests and municipalities.
- Decree number 7837: Determine the application of the provisions of the articles of the law No. 379 of 14 (VAT) relating to taxable non-resident in Lebanon.

1.1.H. Conventions for the Avoidance of Double Taxation

Lebanon has signed Conventions for the Avoidance of Double Taxation with 33 countries (in Africa, Asia, Europe and other) to encourage the exchange of goods, services, the inflow of capital as well as technology.

1.2 International Legislation

Lebanon has, inter alia, ratified the following international conventions relating to international migration and migrants abroad: 49 International Labor Organization (ILO) Conventions (EN), including seven fundamental Conventions: Forced Labor Convention, Right to Organize and Collective Bargaining Convention, Equal Remuneration Convention, Abolition of Forced Labor Convention, Discrimination (Employment) Convention, Minimum Age Convention, and Forms of Child Labor. 003 Law ratifying the 1965 Washington Convention on the Settlement of Investment Disputes between States and National of Other States (section V): The law No 403 dated June 5, 2002 ratified Lebanon's adhesion to the Washington Convention, which became effective for Lebanon on April 25, 2003.

Adhesion to ICSID aims to facilitate the settlement of investment disputes between governments and foreign investors in view of helping promoting increased flows of international investment.
1.3 Bilateral Migration Agreements

Lebanon signed the only bilateral agreement on labor migration with Syria (1994).

Entry into force of bilateral investment agreements and tax conventions (section VI):

A certain number of bilateral investment promotion and protection agreements and bilateral tax conventions between Lebanon and other countries entered into force since 2001:

- Investment agreements: Austria, Belarus, Cyprus, Hungary, Kuwait, Malaysia, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland, United Kingdom, and Yemen;
- Tax conventions: Belarus, Kuwait, Morocco, and Sultanate of Oman.

2. Financial Products / services offered by Lebanese commercial banks and dedicated to Lebanese migrants and mainly expatriates.

The banking sector continues to be the backbone of the Lebanese economy: it is known to be stable, highly liquid and exceptionally sound, ranking 27th worldwide with a score of 5.8/7 in terms of Soundness of Banks indicator.¹⁰

Remittance, a key component of bank deposits, has been continuously increasing, to reach a value of approximately USD 9 billion in 2014 (Figure 4). In terms of GDP, Lebanon is one of the most remittances dependent countries in the world, with remittances inflows constituting 18% of GDP in 2013.

Lebanese banks cover commercial banking, retail banking, investment banking and private banking activities. The banking sector consists of small, medium and large-size privately owned banks; medium and long-term credit and investment banks; Islamic Banks as well as Arab and foreign banks presence through branches and representative offices. The country counts 70 commercial banks, 55 financial institutions, 325 money exchange and 10 foreign bank’s representative offices.¹¹

Lebanese banks have also expanded to Arab neighboring countries, the Gulf region, Europe, Africa and the United States with more than 80 branches, affiliated companies, subsidiaries, sister banks and representative offices around the world. Banks and other financial institutions in Lebanon fall under the jurisdiction of the Central Bank, which is the bank regulatory authority.

2.1 Expatriate Banking Products and Services in Lebanon with a window on the Arab Banking Expatriate packages provided by Arab banks remain limited with the majority of banks merely offering money transfer/remittance services and expatriate housing loans. The Union of Arab Banks has produced a report which sheds light on the expatriate banking products/services provided by banks in Lebanon which received the most remittance inflows in 2014.

Table 1 below shows the top 10 Arab countries in terms of remittance inflows as well as the top 10 banks (by assets) operating in each country.

Table 2 showcases a sample of banking products and services dedicated to expatriates, offered by leading banks in each country

Maghreb countries –namely Morocco and Tunisia can be considered pioneers in this area; in addition to traditional accounts, housing loans, cards, and money transfer operations, top banks in the aforementioned countries offer products and services that encourage investment in vital economic sectors, and manage and diversify investors' portfolios. On the other hand, banks in other Arab countries such as Sudan and Yemen still offer the most rudimentary products and services.

2.2 Financial products and services offered by Lebanese financial institutions to Lebanese immigrants

The Lebanese financial institutions which work under full regulation and supervision of the Central Bank of Lebanon have developed many schemes and financial products for the benefit of the Lebanese migrant body all of which are offered by commercial banks and dedicated to Lebanese expatriates.

The Central Bank of Lebanon (BDL), and in its capacity as the chaperone for the Lebanese banking system and all Lebanese financial institution has identified all the financial products and services offered by Lebanese financial institutions to emigrants by resorting to the complete list of banks posted on BDL website which includes all the 71 banks operating in Lebanon (Lebanese commercial banks, branches of foreign banks, specialized banks and Islamic banks).

The research results (shown in the below table), show that out of the 71 banks; it was revealed that 17 banks had specific expatriate services or products offered to Lebanese Expatriates. Whereas the rest do not explicitly mention any products designated to expatriates.

In spite of the comprehensive feedback, the research revealed that further research and analysis should be conducted in order to understand the relationship between expatriates and financial institutions and mainly banks. Some of these issues include the following:

- Services provided by Lebanese banks to expatriates through their network of branches outside Lebanon.
- Services consumed by expatriates regardless of whether the service/product is especially designed to expatriates.
- Services provided by investment banks to non-residents including expatriates regarding all forms of wealth management and funds.
- Services used by expatriates to repatriate money to Lebanon whether through bank transfers, online banking, or wire transfers either through banks or Money Business Services.
- Statistics regarding the historical development of expatriates programs and all other services consumed by them (volume and value) in order to assess the efficiency and analyze trends.

This table\textsuperscript{14} represents a summary of all Lebanese financial institutions and the financial products and services that they offer to Lebanese immigrants.

3. Governmental related investment initiatives for migrants & expatriates

The Lebanese government did not do much in terms of providing the expatriates with investment initiatives or opportunities compared to other Arab neighboring countries. Nevertheless, the most relevant legislation which relates to investment initiatives for residents as well as emigrants would be “Investment Law No.360” which was enacted in 2001 and has reinforced the Investment Development Authority of Lebanon\(^\text{15}\) (IDAL)’s mission, providing a framework for regulating investment activities in Lebanon, and providing local and foreign investors alike with a range of incentives and business support services. Law No.360 identified a set of priority sectors that showed the most promising opportunities in terms of their investment potential and impact on socio-economic growth. The identified priority sectors include: Industry, Agriculture, Agro-Industry, Tourism, Information Technology, Technology, Telecom and Media.

Foreign and local companies investing in Lebanon can benefit from set of financial and non-financial incentives depending on the sector in which they operate. The Investment Development Authority of Lebanon (IDAL), Lebanon’s national investment promotion agency, provides companies operating in 8 economic sectors with a set of financial and non-financial incentives. Other governmental and non-governmental institutions also provide a set on incentives that you can benefit from.

3.1 Investment initiatives offered by IDAL

3.1.1 Objectives and activities of IDAL:

As the prime national agency responsible for promoting investment in Lebanon, IDAL, and as a part of its mandates, offers the following services which play a major in attracting investment to Lebanon in general including Lebanese emigrants.

a) Providing economic, commercial, legal, industrial and other information relevant for investment decisions.

\(^{15}\) IDAL is the national investment promotion agency that was established in 1994 with the aim of promoting Lebanon as a key investment destination, and attracting, facilitating and retaining investments in the country. In addition to its role as investment promotion agency, IDAL is entrusted with the active promotion and marketing of Lebanese exports including but not limited to agricultural and agro-industrial products.
b) Identifying and promoting investment opportunities in various growth promising sectors.

c) Mediating contacts between investors and entrepreneurs to identify potential joint-venture opportunities.

d) Providing information on economic sectors with investment potential.

e) Granting various types of fiscal exemptions and fees reduction to investment projects as stipulated in Investment Law No. 360.

f) Participating in the capital of joint-stock companies in specific fields.

g) Facilitating issuance of permits and licenses required for starting and operating a business through coordinating with corresponding public institutions.

h) Providing advice on issues affecting the investment climate in Lebanon.

i) Arranging for business meetings with officials from private and public sectors.

j) Providing after-care service for investment projects.

3.1.2 Specialized Incentive Schemes:

The two available Incentive Schemes are the following:

A. Investment Project by Zone (IPZ) scheme: It is a scheme based on the project’s geographical location, investment size and sector type. It provides investors with fiscal related incentives and work permits. This scheme divides Lebanon into three geographical zones (Zone A, Zone B, Zone C).

B. Package Deal Contract (PDC) scheme: It is a scheme based on the project’s investment size; number of jobs created, and sector type. It provides investors with fiscal and labor related incentives as well as set-up fees reductions. Under this scheme, the investor is bound by a contract with the Lebanese government represented by IDAL.
A. Investment Project by Zone (IPZ) scheme: (Incentives Granted):

Based on Geographical Distribution and Investment Size

ZONE A

- Full exemption from income tax for a two-year period provided that at least 40% of the company’s shares are listed on the Beirut Stock Exchange.

ZONE B

Several initiatives was undertaken by the MoFA and the GDE beginning with the foundation or support of several emigrant clubs, associations and institutions in many countries so migrants can communicate while abroad to develop social and economic relationships and discuss and support their home country Lebanon. Media institutions and educational schools are also considered amongst the prime means to secure the links between the Lebanese Diaspora.

The newly developed website of the GDE is marked with an interactive nature. The nature of the website allows proper management and follow-up of personal affairs of the Lebanese communities in various deployment states. It deals with different activities (social, cultural, scientific, literary and economic) and provides the General Directorate of Emigrants feedback and news of these activities to be displayed on the website to enrich and benefit the emigrant community while browsing for information.

[^20]: Special report submitted by the Lebanese Ministry of Finance (MoF) to ESCWA’s National Committee for Remittances and Development on 22/07/2015. The Report represents the opinion of the MoF.
6. Initiatives, projects and programs undertaken by Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) and Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) in the field of the Lebanese migration directly and indirectly

6.1 Role of NGOs and CSOs in supporting migrants and sustaining development:
In general NGOs have not traditionally had a role in providing social and welfare services; they have functioned instead as mediators of interests between citizens and the state or other interest groups, and have supported leisure or recreational activities for and through the population. However, more NGOs are trying to work in many vibrant fields including integration, migration and developments. For the past decade, the Lebanese government has faced difficult times, and the public sector revealed insufficient support for Lebanese Emigrants and the Diaspora in general, due to many reasons. In addition the private commercially driven private sector has understandably selective when choosing what to support and when to act in the field of migration. As a result, a real need for the role of NGOs has appeared, this has pushed many elements of the civil society to act for the benefit of the Lebanese emigrants and got involved in migration strategies, Diaspora support and remittances programs.

6.2 NGOs and CSOs involved directly or indirectly in Lebanese migration related initiatives (Alphabetical Order):
The research conducted revealed a rather surprisingly large number of civil organizations on the local, regional and global levels of which operations relate directly or indirectly to Lebanese migration. The following section represents a list of NGOs (listed by alphabetical order) working in the field of migration and development along with the nature of the project (if any) each given organizations is involved in. In addition, there are many NGOs of which a part of their work is relevant to migration since they are also engaged in numerous initiatives and programs related to Lebanese immigrations, mostly on bilateral bases (between Lebanon and the host country).
1) Aspen Global Leadership Network (AGLN):
   Its main mandate is to connect NGOs to the Lebanese Diaspora. Through creating a website to connect Lebanese expats with Lebanese NGOs, AGLN facilitates the transfer of information and funds between small and medium sized local NGOs and individual donors, focused on connecting Lebanese in the Diaspora with NGOs on the ground. There are many excellent NGOs in Lebanon who have a wealth of experience in the region but have limited access to funding and tend to be too small to benefit from bilateral and multilateral aid. As a result, this NGO addresses this matter and helps in the financing process.

2) Africa & Middle-East Development Council (AMEDC):
   AMEDC is a part of the community of Arab and African young leaders who are shaping the global agenda and implementing a better cooperation between Arab and African Countries in the framework of the new South-South Cooperation. The Lebanese cluster maintains a big role in the volume of AMEDC’s operations.

3) Australian Lebanese Christian Federation (ALCF):
   The Australian Lebanese Christian Federation was founded in 1986 by prominent members of the Australian community from Lebanese background. ALCF mission was to assist Lebanese and Arabic speaking individuals to settle harmoniously in the Australian community. Currently ALCF is helping the new Australians who originate from Arabic speaking countries to integrate fully and actively through a smooth and well oriented interaction within the broader Australian community. ALCF is also monitoring how the new Australians (including the senior citizens) are having an equitable and non-discriminatory access to mainstream services.

4) African Continental Council (ACC):
ACC is affiliated to the World Lebanese Cultural University and has mandates related to the integration of Lebanese in their African host countries.

5) Arab- American Museum in Michigan (AAMM):
The Arab American National Museum (AANM) is the first and only museum in the United States devoted to Arab American history and culture. Arab Americans, including Lebanese have enriched the economic, political and cultural landscape of American life. Since opening in 2005, the Museum has shed light on the shared experiences of immigrants and ethnic groups, paying tribute to the nation’s diversity. The AANM is accredited by the American Alliance of Museums and an Affiliate of the Smithsonian Institution; In addition it is a founding member of the Immigration and Civil Rights Network of the International Coalition of Sites of Conscience

6) Baladiyat:
The Baladiyat program recognizes the cultural and economic importance of the approximately 12.5 million persons which represent the Lebanese Diaspora throughout the world. Lebanese Diaspora remittances account for an estimated 20 percent of Lebanon’s overall GDP. However, only a small percentage goes into job-creating investment in the retail and services sectors.

As a result, and in order to increase local economic development within Lebanon, Baladiyat developed programs to engage and motivate the Lebanese Diaspora through investment and e-commerce opportunities that play a vital role in development. The following represents Baladiyat’s most important programs:

A. Lebanese Diaspora Homeland Investment Database:

Relief International has partnered with the Lebanese Emigration Research Center (LERC) in order to identify likely Diaspora investors and link them with local investment opportunities. Through extensive surveying and research on the Diaspora, LERC began the development of a global database that can potentially connect the Lebanese Diaspora investors with economic opportunities tailored to their individual interests and home villages.

B. Youth Camp

In line with its commitment to youth empowerment, Baladiyat hosted a Youth Camp that brought together Diaspora with Lebanese youth and trained them to become informed / proactive citizens who have the skills to partner with local authorities in order to enhance economic and social development. The goal of the Camp was not only to empower youth, but to build positive, long-lasting connections between the Lebanese Diaspora and their homeland on many levels.

7) Back to Roots:

Back to Roots is a group of North Americans of Lebanese origins that is based all over the United States of America and Canada. They connect alumni with volunteer and internship opportunities, both in Lebanon and in the US and Canada, to their continuous robust engagement with Lebanon. Participants have the opportunity to:

- Learn about Lebanon’s social, economic, and political dynamics from the country’s stakeholders, including NGOs, activists, political players, and more.
- Connect with their heritage to enable them to build a real and long lasting relationship with Lebanon.

8) Brown Bag Talks (BBT):

The Brown Bag Talks that were held in 2011 were respectively entitled "There are no friends here", and "Exploring Diaspora Diplomacy through the Case of the U.S. Public Diplomacy in Lebanon". This initiative has organized in the past many events that were valuable for enhancing Diaspora contribution in development.

9) Center for Lebanese studies (CLS)

CLS is a long term program of interest in Lebanese Emigration and brain drain issues which was launched in a three-day conference. The program was developed to include several publications and the Transfer of know-how through Expatriate Nationals (TOKTEN) project in collaboration with UNESCO and UNDP. The conference brought together an international group of scholars to discuss the history of Lebanese emigration as well as the present circumstances of the Lebanese. Members of the group had done academic studies in the field of Lebanese emigration from Australia, Canada, Europe, Latin America, Lebanon and the United States.

10) Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Lebanon in Cote d'Ivoire:

Today it is the official body that represents Lebanese economic interests and defends them in the face of the many challenges. It enjoys recognition of the Ivorian state and is part of the constituents of the Economic and Social council. Its president is a special economic advisor to the head of state.

11) Development Association for Nurturing Arab Leadership & Innovation (DANALI):

DANALI is a regional independent non-governmental entity and one of the growing regional civil society organizations operating in the Arab world.
